35 U.S.C. 251 Reissue of defective patents.

Whenever any patent is, through error without any deceptive intention, deemed wholly or partly inoperative or invalid, by reason of a defective specification or drawing, or by reason of the patentee claiming more or less than he had a right to claim in the patent, the Director shall, on the surrender of such patent and the payment of the fee required by law, reissue the patent for the invention disclosed in the original patent, and in accordance with a new and amended application, for the unexpired part of the term of the original patent. No new matter shall be introduced into the application for reissue. The Director may issue several reissued patents for distinct and separate parts of the thing patented, upon demand of the applicant, and upon payment of the required fee for a reissue for each of such reissued patents. The provisions of this title relating to applications for patent shall be applicable to applications for reissue of a patent, except that application for reissue may be made and sworn to by the assignee of the entire interest if the application does not seek to enlarge the scope of the claims of the original patent. No reissued patent shall be granted enlarging the scope of the claims of the original patent unless applied for within two years from the grant of the original patent. (Amended Nov. 29, 1999, Public Law 106-113, sec. 1000(a)(9), 113 Stat. 1501A-582 (S. 1948 sec. 4732(a)(10)(A)).)

§ 1.173 Reissue specification, drawings, and amendments.

(a) Contents of a reissue application. An application for reissue must contain the entire specification, including the claims, and the drawings of the patent. No new matter shall be introduced into the application. No reissue patent shall be granted enlarging the scope of the claims of the original patent unless applied for within two years from the grant of the original patent, pursuant to 35 U.S.C. 251.

Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 251 as the amendment to the application introduces new matter to the application.

Specifically, the amendment to the specification at column 4, the paragraph starting at line 44, the change in the specification from "... approximately 22° (specifically 22.21°)" to -- approximately 30° -- is considered to be new matter on the basis of a lack of a proper "incorporation by reference" in the application that matured into U. S. Pat. No. 6,112,767.

For applications filed on or after September 21, 2004, a claim under 35 U.S.C. 120 and 37 CFR 1.78 for benefit of a prior-filed nonprovisional application or international application designating the U.S. that was present on the filing date of the continuation or divisional application is considered an incorporation by reference of the prior-filed application as to inadvertently omitted material, subject to the conditions and requirements of 37 CFR 1.57(a). The purpose of 37 CFR 1.57(a) is to provide a safeguard for applicants when all or a portion of the specification and/or drawing(s) is (are) inadvertently omitted from an application.

For applications filed prior to September 21, 2004, like the application that matured into Pat. No. 6,112,767, in order to incorporate inadvertently omitted subject matter a proper "incorporation by reference" is necessary in the application as filed.

On review of the application that matured into the '767 patent, which was filed prior to September 21 2004, there is found no "incorporation by reference" of the parental application. Accordingly, as there is no "incorporation by reference" to the parent application, and that the application that matured into the '767 patent has no basis, as originally filed, for disclosure and claim language to "30 °(degrees)", this change in the disclosure as now proposed in this reissue application is considered to be new matter. See M.P.E.P. §201.06(c) IV INCORPORATION BY REFERENCE.

Additionally, it is noted that the application which matured into Pat. No. 6,112,767 was originally filed as a "continuation" under rule 60 application. 37 CFR 1.60 requires that the specification "must" be the same. As the specification, as originally filed, was not the same the parental status of this application should be changed to the proper "continuation-in-part" status.
